Coaching Services

The selection is vast. The promises are big. This makes many of my clients doubtful. Since I've often been asked what to look out for, I want to give you some tips to help you find the right coaching offer for you:

- 1) Don't trust empty promises and make sure that everything promised to you is also contractually documented.
- 2) Inquire about the average salary of a trained therapist. Extremely higher fees from coaches/trainers are pure rip-offs and not justified.
- 3) Filter out negative buzzwords. For example: ACT NOW, ONE-TIME offer, NEVER AGAIN this chance, VALID ONLY FOR YOU.
- 4) Take the time you need. No contract HAS to be signed immediately. Think it over and don't let yourself be pressured or manipulated. For example: If you don't sign now, then ...

The World of TimeWaver

For over 15 years, I have been working with the TimeWaver, and I would like to briefly explain to you what this wonder device is all about.

The TimeWaver is a radionics device that analyzes various energetic levels in your information field. For example, it examines the emotional, physical, genetic, but also professional, familial, or social levels. Using different frequencies, a treatment with the TimeWaver can restore balance across all these levels. Since the analyses do not pertain to the physical body like in medical diagnostics, an on-site appointment is not necessary. Information field medicine is based on the theory of the physical-mental interacting information field described here, from which all processes can be controlled. The TimeWaver helps to view you in your entirety, from the mind to the cellular structure.

I am happy to bring you closer to the world of holistic health with the help of the TimeWaver. If you are interested, feel free to get in touch!
